COLMAN'S LONDON MUSTARD.

THE attention of dealers and consumers is particularly called to the superior quality and low prices of the above mustard, manufactured by J. & J. Colman, London, now the most extensive factors of mustard in Great Britain.

Four different qualities are manufactured, which are packed in kegs, canisters, tin-foil, and bottles, and each package is warranted full weight. The 4, 6, and 10lb. tin canisters are peculiarly adapted for the South, as they effectually exclude dampness and air, thus preserving the flavor in all its strength.

MRS. WINSLOW,

An experienced Nurse and Female Physician, presents to the attention of mothers her

SOOTHING SYRUP,
For Children Teething,

which greatly facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

SURE TO REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

RELIEF AND HEALTH TO YOUR INFANTS.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.

We have put up and sold this article for over ten years, and CAN SAY, IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after ten years' experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILLMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the Syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation is the prescription of one of the most EXPERIENCED and SKILLFUL NURSES in New England, and has been used with NEVER-FAILING SUCCESS in THOUSANDS OF CASES.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve GRIPING IN THE BOWELS, AND WIND COLIC, and overcome convulsions, which, if not speedily remedied, end in death. We believe it the BEST and SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD in all cases of DYSENTERY AND DIARRHEA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—DO NOT LET YOUR PREJUDICES NOR THE PREJUDICES OF OTHERS stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

Sold by Druggists throughout the world.

LOUISVILLE JOURNAL.

FRENCH TROOPS ENTERING TURIN.

[Correspondence of the London Daily News.]

Turin, April 30.

I have seen the French enter Turin early this morning. The drums of the National Guard roused the whole town at six. But the Turin people are early risers, and needed no reveille. Before I reached the Victor Emmanuel Railway station, a crowd had assembled there. By seven o'clack the roads in every direction, the walls and bulwarks of Emmanuel Philibert's half dismantled citadel were lined with dense masses. I heard old inhabitants say they had never witnessed such a gathering of men in their town. The National Guard, from 6,000 to 8,000 strong—the finest and most martial looking of all burgher militia in the world—were at their place. Old General Gonnaz, at the head of a brilliant staff, amongst whom I recognised Da Bormida, a late Minister of War, was on the spot about seven, and they had to sit on their saddles till nine o'clock, when the first detachment of French troops, the Chasseurs de Vincennes, brought in by two or three successive trains, issued from the station, first at a pas de charge, then at a run. I spare you the shouting, drumming, trumpeting, and clapping of hands, the flowers thrown by fair hands at the brisk looking soldiers as they passed under the balconies in the streets. It was a population drunk with joy; but less noisy, and wild, and stormy than that of any other Italian town would have been under similar circumstances. The Piedmontese are quiet, nay, almost grave, even in their carnival frolics. No emotion can stir the good Turinese out of their proprieties.

The French themselves were no novelty to me, though I do not remember ever seeing them before thus equipped for actual campaign. The Chasseurs are young, small, hungry-looking men, laden with knapsacks, capote, soup bowls, tent poles, batterie de cusine, provisions, and other nameless and numberless things, quite a disproportionate burden to all appearance to such diminutive shoulders. Their gait, however, is easy and lively, and they seem to delight in making light of their load. The costume is perfection as to usefulness and convenience; and it is not unpicturesque. These men are soldiers and nothing else—the man has been rooted out of them as the woman out of the Amazon of old, to leave nothing but the fighting machine. There are no better light troops in the world—there can be no better. Only the Piedmontese Bersaglieri are worthy, or indeed able, to march by their side.

Altogether it was an impressive and, to the eyes of most of the bystanders, a gay and happy scene. The Novara Railway station commands a view of the Alpine chain on one side and of the Turin hills on the other. The great mountains were clear at an early hour, and their snowy crests shone in all their brightness. The Collina, with the Temple of Saperga on its culminating point, was bathed in thin summer haze. The air was warm, still, and somewhat heavy. It was not quite a cheerful morning, though every heart was merry round me. (There have been April showers later in the day.) I looked round that immense mass of staring, gazing, grinning, bawling faces, and wondering was there one serious mind in the midst of so many that took in and weighed well the full meaning and import of the scene he beheld?

Yon stern citadel was the work of Emmanuel Philibert, the iron-head, and the conqueror of St. Quentin, the first Prince of Savoy, who in the sixteenth century fixed the residence of the House of Savoy at Turin, and gave its policy a decided Italian tendency. In yonder citadel the French had once—in the seventeenth century—a home; they were there besieged by the Spaniards, masters of the town, who in their turn were besieged by a French army in possession of the country. Round yonder citadel, and round the whole town, at the beginning of the eighteenth century, the French were routed by the Austrians under Prince Eugene and left 15,000 men strewn on the plain.

From yonder citadel, at the end of the same century, the French Republicans insulted the Piedmontese, and worried almost to death the ill-fated Charles Emmanuel IV., holding him as a prisoner in his palace during two long years of a treacherous mock alliance. For full three hundred years this notable shuttlecock of Piedmont, tossed to and fro by the invaders of Italy, was induced or forced into French alliances, which almost invariably turned to its detriment. The past is sad, ominously sad, to look back upon; but there is every reason to believe that the circumstances, both of Piedmont and Savoy, of Italy and France, are changed for the better, and it is my full conviction that the Italians have it in their power to render this last French occupation of their country as disinterested and truly brotherly as Napoleon has declared it to be.

Advice About Teeth.—Dr. Hayes, an eminent surgeon dentist residing in London, gives the following useful hints about the care of the teeth. They are simple, timely, and deserve attention:

In the first place, the teeth should be fairly used. By this I mean, not made to perform the duties of crackers for nuts, experimented on to ascertain their strength, or by ladies to rival scissors in cutting thread; for rest assured—in every case, more particularly the last—the party having recourse to such practices will surely some day rue them; the teeth so unwittingly injured being always the first to part company from their fellows. Those who indulge in such or similar habits may truly be called the dentist's friends. Cleanliness is absolutely essential for the preservation of the teeth, and they should be well brushed at least morning and evening, that any feculence which may be attached to them, either during sleep from the stomach, or by day from meals, may not be allowed permanently to adhere, causing, firstly, discoloration, then tartar, and subsequently, if I may so express myself, undermining the constitution of one or more, as from their position they may be more or less liable to corrosion.

In order that the teeth should look natural—that is, retain their natural color—a dentifrice free from the smallest particle of acid should be used at the matin hour, and the mouth rinsed with tepid water, for extremes of heat and cold are most highly prejudicial not only to their color, but also to their durability; and I know no method so simple of converting a really useful and ornamental set into one of pain and subsequent extinction, than the use of washing in either one or the other. The person who habituates him or herself to any extent, to hot soup, tea, or other drinks, assuredly rivals the friend to the dentist just named. Brushes for the teeth should be of medium substance of bristle, and those made on what is called the penetrating principle are best. I would also observe that children at an early age should be instructed in the use of the toothbrush, and taught the value and importance of the teeth, in order to inculcate habits of cleanliness and a due appreciation of the ornaments of the mouth. A brush properly selected (not too hard) may be used by children five years of age, every morning; and by being part and parcel of the general ablution, and thus directing habitual attention to the teeth, a useful and cleanly habit will be engendered which will probable insure for them proper care throughout life.

Alderman Baird, from Revision Committee, to whom was referred the report of the Revision Committee of the Common Council, upon the decision of the Court of Appeals, upon the suits vs. city for paving, reported the same, which was ordered to be printed.

The Committee of Revision of the Board of the Common Council, to whom the communication of the City Engineer, addressed to the General Council on the 7th inst., on the subject of the grading and paving of streets, was referred, beg leave to report thereon as follows:

The communication begins by referring to the decisions of the courts in suits brought against the city for the grading and paving of streets. The interpretation by the courts of the ordinance regulating such work is next recited, and is, that all contracts for the execution of such work shall, in their phraseology, be strictly in accordance with the words of the Charter and the words of the ordinance, under which the work is authorized to be done.

This interpretation is correct in the opinion of the committee.

The communication proceeds by reciting the second section of the 7th article of the new Charter, wherein it is granted in these words, "That the General Council shall have the power to pass ordinances to procure the improvement, either by grading and paving, or by grading, paving, and macadamizing, or by grading and planking any portion of or the whole of any street or alley, now established," &c., &c., &c. The Charter embraces in this quoted section all that is said on this important subject.

It will be perceived, however, that nothing is said in this section, or elsewhere, indeed, in the Charter, on the subject of curbing of "any street or alley" that the Council, by any ordinance, may order to be paved.

This omission of the word "curb" or the word "curbing" in the authority given for the improvement of streets and alleys, seems to have arrested the attention of the courts, and to have led them to a decision, in discriminating what is and what is not a pavement, that may, possibly, if a review of their opinion cannot be had, fall heavily in the way of expenses on the city, in the future improvements of all streets and alleys.

The courts have incautiously decided, we think, with all due deference, that macadamizing a street or alley is not paving a street or alley, and vice-versa.

Paving may not mean macadamizing. But, on the other hand, it is irrefragably true, that macadamizing does mean paving of a sort or species. It means this, or it is without a meaning; and, we think, no court will affirm the latter.

We think the court or courts have ignored the meaning of the word pavement in their decision.

The term pavement is a generic term, comprehending several sorts or species, each of which is distinguished from the other by the material used in the construction.

The court or courts might have come to a more intelligible decision if they had consulted, before making it, some of the standard dictionaries; Webster's is thus regarded in this country, having been formally or informally adopted as such by the Congress of the United States, and, we believe, by every other deliberative body of the country, by the Universities and Colleges, and by the learned professions.

Then, consulting this acknowledged standard for the meaning of the word "pavement," it is thus given. The Latin word pavimentum is given; from it the English word pavement is taken. The definition then follows, viz: "A floor or covering, consisting of stone, bricks, or other hard material, laid on the earth in such a manner as to make a hard and convenient passage; as a pavement of pebbles, of brick, or of marble."

Thus, too, Worcester, a distinguished lexicographer, defines the word pavement: "A floor or causeway formed of stone, brick, or other hard material."

If these definitions of the word pavement or the word paving be correct, what becomes of the decision of the court, that macadamizing is not paving. In macadamizing a hard material is laid on the earth and constitutes a pavement according to Webster and Worcester, no matter what the hard material is, whether stone, brick, wood, or marble.

The decision further states that, where an alley is graded, paved, and curbed, the property pays for the grading and paving, and the city pays for the curbing. This decision, in the opinion of the committee, is not remarkable for its wisdom—as well might it have been decided that a pump is a complete pump, wanting the essential handle.

The committee conclude that it is common sense that curbing is paving, applying the definition of pavement as already given, viz: The laying of any hard material on the earth—curbing thus becoming a very essential necessary, and indispensable part of paving.

The communication finally asks whether, in view of these decisions, the city will be liable for the cost of the curbs in any future improvement of streets ordered to be made by the General Council, and if so, whether any specific agreement can be made with the property holders, whose property binds on the street so ordered to be improved, for the cost of the curbing before the work is contracted for.

The Committee are of the opinion that no such step should be taken, as they deem the right to be in the city to compel the owners of property to pay for the curbing. The Committee believe it entirely practicable to frame an ordinance to meet all the difficulties suggested by the decisions of the courts in the premises, suiting the language of such ordinance to the language of the charter, where the power is derived to the General Council, to grade and pave streets and alleys. All which is respectfully submitted by the Committee.

☞ The Bardstown Gazette perpetrates the following most barefaced and ridiculous perversion of Mr. Magoffin's position on the slavery question:

> Mr. Magoffin's position, as enunciated here, was as plain and intelligible as any one could desire. Many affect not to understand it, but "there's no one so blind as he that will not see." Mr. Magoffin acknowledged the power of Congress to protect slavery. He also declared it the duty of Congress to protect slavery, should this protection become necessary. But he deprecated the agitation of slavery in the halls of Congress, if it could possibly be avoided, knowing the incalculable evils that might result from it. He was for seeking redress in every Constitutional way before applying to Congress, but he did not declare in favor of non-intervention under any and all circumstances.

This is a perversion, because it represents Mr. Magoffin as saying what he really never said; it is barefaced, for it does this in the teeth of the testimony not only of every man who heard Mr. Magoffin fairly at Bardstown but of every one who has heard him fully anywhere else in the canvass; it is ridiculous, since it makes Mr. Magoffin occupy Mr. Bell's position on a question in relation to which Mr. B. has been lashing Mr. M. most unmercifully ever since the canvass began and is still lashing him without the smallest abatement of vigor or vehemence.

What, in the name of common sense and common decency, is the object of so absurd and contemptible a misrepresentation? Do the men who publish it and the men who republish it imagine for an instant than anybody with a thimbleful of brains can be induced to credit it? Do they actually fancy that there are Democrats in Kentucky so densely stupid or so intensely stupefied as to believe, in spite not only of their own ears and of the ears of all the rest of the community but of the fierce and unceasing contests waging between Bell and Magoffin on this very point, that Magoffin, after all, holds the self-same position that Bell does? Do they indeed rate Democratic sense and intelligence at this miserably low figure? Do they deem the masses of their party a set of unmitigated dolts and simpletons? If they don't, why do they utter and attempt to give currency to a statement which they must know that none but dolts and simpletons can believe? The fatuity of these graceless prevaricators is altogether inexplicable.

Mr. Magoffin's position on the question of slavery in the Territories, we reiterate deliberately, is that of UNQUALIFIED NON-INTERVENTION. He took this position at Lebanon, he has maintained it ever since, and he holds it now. With respect to the legal and ethical points involved Mr. Magoffin has perhaps vacillated somewhat since his opening speech, but to the salient practical point of non-intervention itself he has firmly adhered and still firmly adheres. He abides by simple non-intervention. He stands squarely upon the fact. Mr. Magoffin repudiates squatter-sovereignty in theroy, indeed, but declares for it in practice, without qualification or restraint. Otherwise, as we have already intimated, the canvass between him and Mr. Bell on this point is perfectly nonsensical. Mr. Bell asserts distinctly the policy of intervention for protection when necessary; if Mr. Magoffin doesn't assert the policy of non-intervention, there is of course no difference between the two, and they are daily belaboring each other for nothing, or for the fun of the thing. As this is a practical absurdity which the common sense of the people rejects at once it follows inevitably that Mr. Magoffin does assert the policy of non-intervention. Reason confirms what testimony establishes.

To be sure he asserts it. Of course he does. And every man in the State or out of it who has heard him on the question knows it. The very men who insinuate the contrary know it. None know it better. It is the palpable truth. To deny it is a gross affront to every sense and faculty of the human mind. It is an insult to the public sanity. It is a piece of insolent and desperate silliness.

☞The Columbia Sentinel contains a letter from Hon. William W. Boyce, Representative from the Sixth Congressional District of South Carolina, defining his position on certain points, in answer to the request of a correspondent of that paper. The letter of Mr. Boyce is dated Saline Farm, May 11, and says:

> I utterly repudiate Judge Douglas's idea that a Territorial Legislature may discriminate against slavery, and nothing could induce me to support for the Presidency any one standing on this platform.
> I consider it as clear as a mathematical problem, that the South have a right to be protected with their slave property in the Territories, and that Congress, or their instruments, the Territorial Legislatures, should afford this protection. As a question of practical action, I would not at this time have originated this issue, but having been raised, as a Southern Representative, I shall demand the fullest measure of our rights.

This is a true exposition of Southern sentiment and the position of the South; and no one can doubt it without being recreant to the constitutional rights of slaveholders. Under the compromise action of 1850, the conservative voice of the country agreed to let the subject of slavery rest without Congressional action, either to establish or prohibit; but when the Dred Scott case brought up a new issue—the right to have slave property protected in the Territories—the question was naturally referred to the Supreme Court, and under its decision, if the power of the Judiciary under the constitution is not the merest promise to the ear to be broken to the hope, Mr. Boyce is right when he says "it is as clear as a mathematical problem that the South have a right to be protected with their slave property in the Territories, and that Congress, or their instruments, the Territorial Legislatures, should afford this protection." He is right also in saying that though the raising of this issue may have been of doubtful practical advantage, still, as it has been originated, every Southern man should demand the fullest measure of our rights. Mr. Boyce does not disguise the gloomy appearance of the future, and says:

> We are threatened with the greatest possible calamity—the domination of an imperious North and the paralysis of a disunited South. We shall need all wisdom and moderation to avert the disasters that threaten us, and yet how marked is the absence of these great qualities on the part of many who aspire to direct public opinion at the South.

This warning comes to Kentucky at a most opportune moment. Here, the Democratic candidate for the office of Governor and most of the party candidates for Congress and the Legislature are working to aid the "domination of an imperious North" and assisting to paralyse and disunite the South. Mr. Boyce fears that "the North sectionalized will soon take possession of the Government," while the Democracy of Kentucky are aiding the movements of Douglas to ingraft the worst anti-slavery heresies upon the creed of their party. Southern politicians and Southern statesmen, however much they have differed upon other issues, have always been united in sentiment upon the rights of their section in slave property. Now we see the insidious effort made to bring the odious doctrines which involve a base surrender of those rights into the Southern States, and claim that they are orthodox Democracy. Was there ever a deception so transparent or a debasement more craven?

☞The editor of the Democrat assures us with considerable particularity and not a little feeling that he advocated squatter-sovereignty in 1856 just as distinctly as he advocates it now. We cheerfully accept the correction. Our impression was that our neighbor had not advocated squatter-sovereignty in direct and positive terms until within the last year; but we believe he is right. He has no doubt advocated it from the days of the Nicholson letter. We beg our neighbor's pardon. We shall never again undertake to assign a limit to his political heresies.

☞The Virginia election for Governor, Congressmen, and Legislature takes place on Thursday next. Mr. Letcher, the Democratic gubernatorial candidate, who is still confined at home by illness, has issued an address to the people of the State.—Mr. Goggin, his opponent, is daily on the "stump," and is met, on behalf of Mr. Letcher, by Mr. Montague, the Democratic nominee for Lieut. Governor. We have great hopes that Mr. Goggin will scotch the snake, Democracy, if he does not kill it.

☞The Louisville Courier taunts the editor of the Democrat with having belonged only a short time to the Democratic party. There's truth in the taunt. The Democrat man has indeed been with the Democracy only a short time—only fifteen years—only a little more than four times as long as the Courier-men.

☞The Southern Convention of last year endorsed disunion and filibusterism. That of the present year has endorsed disunion, filibusterism, and piracy. We wonder what that of next year will do. We much fear that its ingenuity will be sadly taxed.

☞Wm. B. Bishop, a defeated ex-Congressman of Connecticut, has been appointed commissioner of patents. Whom the people put down, Mr. Buchanan puts up, but we wonder who will put him up when the people shall put him down.

☞The Democrat advises us to hold our breath altogether. We mean to hold it. It's our own, and we expect to hold our own.

☞Linn Boyd's organ advises the Opposition not to lay its hand on him. No doubt it will prefer setting its foot on him.

☞It will be seen from the report in another column of the Opposition Convention held at Warsaw on the 16th inst. that our political friends in the State Senatorial District composed of the counties of Boone, Carroll, and Gallatin have presented Judge Youell as their candidate for the Senatorship. The nomination is a most excellent one. Judge Y. is a man of acute and sound judgment, of extensive intelligence, and a very keen and forcible debater. He will uphold the banner of the Opposition in his District with credit and success.

The Convention at Warsaw, we notice, recommended the second Monday in June as the most suitable time for the assembling of the Congressional Convention at Covington. The Congressional Convention in our judgment ought not to be put off a day later. Much depends on judicious action in this respect.

We believe that the Tenth District can be redeemed. And, if it can be, it certainly should be. No honorable effort ought to be wanting to achieve its redemption. And unquestionably the first step in this direction is the timely selection of an energetic, ardent, popular, and eloquent leader. The ranks of the Opposition of the District contain many such. Let the standard of the party be placed seasonably in the hands of one of them. We have nothing to lose but everything to gain from a protracted and thorough canvass.

Let a full canvass under an active and inspiring leader be had, and, our word for it, the result will show that Col. Stevenson is not at all invincible on the stump or at the ballot-box. Even with our limited acquaintance in the District we think we could mention several men of the Opposition who would prove more than a match for him in either arena. Col. S. is undoubtedly a most excellent gentleman, and a very able man; but, in our opinion, politics is not his proper sphere, and, if it were, the stump is not his true field. There are elements in the pending canvass, palpable to all, which, we are entirely persuaded, must lend to the Opposition candidate in the Tenth District, if he be an effective and kindling popular speaker, as he ought to be, a power which nothing in Col. Stevenson or his cause or in both together can successfully resist before the people.

Gentlemen of the Opposition in the Tenth Congressional District! bring out your strongest, truest, and most electrifying man at the earliest suitable moment. A glorious victory is not beyond your reach.

> The events of the last six or eight months have proved that there are several coteries of politicians who are engaged in efforts to bring particular men prominently forward as candidates for the Presidency, and there is the most abundant reason to believe that they are actuated in their rival schemes by motives equally corrupt.

This is a very sweeping and comprehensive charge, and our staid cotemporary of the Quaker City will, of course, desire to be exempted from its operations. Within the period to which it refers an article appeared in the Evening Journal, giving in its adhesion to the Hon. James Guthrie as a candidate for the Presidency, and as the professed neutrality of the Journal gave the matter prominence the motives of the editor were much canvassed. While we absolve him from the category into which he has placed others, we think that one coterie has as much right to give prominence to its favorite as another. There being glass houses in Philadelphia from which newspapers emanate, the Journal engages in a risky business when it commences to throw such big stones regardless of the heads upon which they fall.

☞The Douglas Democrats and the Buchanan Democrats of Pennsylvania are making the hair fly. The Harrisburg Sentinel, the central organ of the Douglas Democracy of the State, says of Mr. Buchanan:

> He is a violator of pledges, an unwise, unsafe, and corrupt Executive, a pro-slavery disunionist, a pirate in intention, a tyrant, an apostate from Democracy, a wool-dyed Federalist, and a disorganizer.

Mr. Buchanan's Philadelphia organ retorts to this by calling the editor of the Sentinel, Col. Forney, &c.:

> Red-mouth abolitionists, corrupt and rotten at the heart, capable of perpetrating the foulest and blackest crimes, who have lived all their lives on plunder, stealing from the Treasury of the Government, and when the door was shut against their wholesale stealing they turn round and abuse the men and party who gave them life.

Now, that's interesting—isn't it?

☞The Boston Courier says: "In Shakspeare's play of Measure for Measure, the reader will remember that Abhorson, the executioner, tells Master Barnardine that he must get up and be hanged; a pleasant request which the clown varies by saying to him that he must be so good as to rise and be put to death. Master Barnardine naturally enough declines these courteous propositions. Mr. Joshua R. Giddings tells the Oberlin rescuers that they ought to have got up and hanged 'the slave catchers,' and that had they done so there would have been no more trouble with this class of miscreants. But they seem deaf to the voice of the charmer, and four of them, in the most ignominious manner, have pleaded guilty to their indictments, paid their fines, and gone home."

☞The Richmond Enquirer, in a late issue, affirms that "the questions that have grown out of the slavery agitation present the only living issues of the day." But the Washington Constitution says "the abstract question of protection to slave property in the Territories by Congress on the one hand, and the power of the people of a Territory to adopt unfriendly legislation on the other, are not living issues." Which is the orthodox Democratic faith? Cannot the people of Kentucky see that Buchanan's new Northern editor of his organ is preparing to sell the South in advance of the Charleston convention? And can they not see that Magoffin and most of the Democratic press are aiding in the political swindle.

☞A correspondent of the Louisville Democrat, deprecating the strife between the squatter sovereign and the anti-squatter sovereign Democracy of the State, says:

> Then, gentlemen, why not first elect him (Magoffin) by a large majority, and then cut each other's throats.

Perhaps we haven't a right to advise, but we think they had better reverse the order of the two operations.

> Hon. Thomas H. Holt has been nominated for Congress by the Democracy of the Seventh district, Kentucky. In accepting the nomination he maintained the right of the South to take her property to the Territories under the Dred Scott decision, but declared that he was against the interference of Congress, either to establish, prohibit, or protect slavery.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

This is known to be strictly true by all who heard Col. Holt's speech at Lagrange. Courier! what have you to say? Can a politician, holding and proclaiming the sentiments of Col. H., have such a thing as "a political future?"

☞Our friend of the Madison Courier comments upon what he calls our wit. We may comment upon his if we ever get a chance to see it.

HON. F. M. BRISTOW.—We have already announced the nomination of this gentleman as the Opposition candidate for Congress in the Third District. The Bowling Green Gazette says of Mr. B:

> The Opposition convention which assembled at this place last Monday unanimously nominated Hon. F. M. Bristow, of Todd county, as their standard-bearer in the canvass for Congress in this district. There were other gentlemen in nomination in the convention whose characters qualify them for any position to which they might aspire; but the convention in its wisdom selected Mr. Bristow, who is acknowledged by all to be a man of sterling integrity, ability, and patriotism. He may be called a solid man, of unblemished character, a scholar, an erudite lawyer, and an honest, conscientious politician.
> A more satisfactory nomination could not have been made. He is well known to the people of the District, and whereever he is known he bears the character we have given him. He has some Congressional experience, having served the unexpired term of the late Hon. P. Ewing, and if elected now will soon indelibly impress his colleagues in Congress with his excellent character. He is a man for the times, and a man for the people who want sterling good qualities of head and heart. We have yet to hear a single utterance of anything but perfect satisfaction with the result. Is it not supererogation to call on the people to rally around the standard of such a man as Frank Bristow?

To the Editors of the Louisville Journal:

WARSAW, KY., May 16, 1859.

GENTLEMEN: A spirited Opposition meeting was held in Warsaw, Gallatin county, on the 16th inst., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for the Senatorial district composed of the counties of Boone, Carroll, and Gallatin.

Col. Merrick, of Boone, was called to the chair.

On motion, the resolutions of 22d February, 1859, at Louisville, were unanimously adopted, with an additional resolution, to-wit:

> That the Territories being the common property of the confederation of the United States, each and every citizen of the several States has the right of protection of slaves as well as any property recognized by the constitution of the United States, and that no Territorial legislation can affect the relation of master and slave, and that it is the duty of Congress to protect this right.

No further business being before the convention, the President announced that nominations were in order. On motion of Mr. Tucker, of Boone, the name of Judge Youel, of Boone county, was put in nomination. No one else being put in nomination, Judge Youel was chosen as the candidate for the Senatorial district by acclamation.

The Judge being called for, responded to the nomination in a beautiful and spirited manner. The Judge is a man of ability and deserved popularity, and will make a spirited and energetic canvass. His friends are sanguine of success with such a gallant leader.

The convention declared that there would be held at Covington a convention to nominate for Congress, and that the second Monday in June was the most suitable time.

W. A. CRAIG, Sec.

[For the Louisville Journal.]

[Correspondence of the New York Times.]

THE WAR MOVEMENT.

PARIS, May 2, 1859.

After a three days' inexplicable delay, the Austrian army has crossed the line into Piedmont, and the war has therefore commenced. The three days' grace allowed to Piedmont by the Austrian ultimatum expired on Thursday afternoon last, and it was reasonable to suppose that, since it was all important to arrive before the French, on Tuesday night or Wednesday morning the Austrians would have passed the line. They did not pass it, however, till Friday afternoon, and since they thus lost three most precious days—which gave exactly time enough for the French to break up their camps of observation on their own soil and to throw themselves between the Austrians, and Turin and Alesandria—people are curious to know what mighty influence could have arrested the onward march of he Austrian army.

In England it is attributed to the influence of the Derby Cabinet; in Piedmont to the revolution in Tuscany. Another explanation is that Field Marshal Baron Hess, opposed to the Emperor Francis Joseph's policy of rashly invading Sardinian territory, collected his troops between Pavia and Placenza and refused to advance, preferring disgrace to a compromise of Austria before Europe. A peremptory order from the young and irritated Emperor sent him across the line with his army. Still another explanation is given, almost too absurd for repetition, that the Piedmontese intended to open the flood gates of the Lake Maggiore in order to inundate the country in the direction of Novara, and thus cut off the retreat of the Austrians.

For the French army, after it had arrived in Sardinian territory, to give itself up to the isolated arbitration and tender mercies of an English Cabinet leaning toward Austria, was not only asking too much of France, but it was so undiplomatic as to amount almost to an insult. Yet even this last proposition of England Napoleon took into consideration, not, it is to be presumed, because he supposed a single man in his Cabinet would support it, but to show his respect to England and his desire to adopt measures for the preservation of peace. If Russia, Prussia, and England combined could not arrest the progress of the Austrian troops, how was the isolated mediation of the English Cabinet to do it? And how could Napoleon, with due respect to Russia and Prussia, accept this isolated mediation, or rather arbitration? The most charitable view we can take of the proposition of Lord Derby is, that it was an electioneering scheme; it was certainly neither diplomatic nor respectful.

The revolution in Tuscany was well calculated to make Austria hesitate a moment, for the sudden and quiet manner in which it was accomplished, and the unexpected way in which Gen. Ulloa appeared upon the scene, prove clearly that the affair had all been arranged beforehand. Moreover, it is a totally new party that has risen up, or rather it is not the party that was supposed to be strongest, and all this may have required consultation with Vienna, and a change of the Austrian plan of campaign. At the news of the first battle Austria may find Modena and Parma following the example of Tuscany, and then a very decided change would be required in their plan.

But, whatever may have been the cause of the Austrian delay, it allowed Marshal Canrobert and Gen Niel to arrive at Turin, and in company with the King, Victor Emanuel—the first furnishing the tactics, the second the engineering, and the third the soldiering—to reconnoitre the ground, examine their defences, and organize their plan of campaign. Canrobert is the master-at-arms in ordinary of Napoleon, and knows all the latter's military hobbies, so that the plans he may adopt or recommend to the others will surely be approved by the Emperor. Everything will then be ready for the Emperor's arrival, and his Majesty's presence will be principally useful in giving enthusiasm to the soldiers. Baraguay d'Hilliers and MacMahon will enter the campaign from Genoa, operating in front of Alessandria, and for the protection of the line of railway from Genoa to Alessandria and Turin.

The Austrians crossed the Ticino at three points in a small body at Stressa, on the Lake Maggiore, and in a large body at Gravellona—this latter division dividing again into two, the one marching forward into Mortara, and the other to Novara. From these points they appear to be concentrating toward Vercelli, on the Sesia; and since the Sardinian army will make its principal stand on the Dora-Battea river, half-way between Vercelli and Turin, the armies are not more than 25 miles apart, and here probably the first great battle will be fought. In this first battle, if it is fought to day, or the first part of this week, the French must rely on their small arms and bayonets, since it is impossible that much of their artillery could arrive in time. But the Zouaves of the Guard will be there, and these will be relied on for the heavy work with the bayonet.

It was the Sardinians, and not the Austrians, who blew up the bridge of Buffalora, the railway bridge which crossed the Ticino at ten miles from Novara, and which offered the greatest facilities for the invasion of the Sardinian territory. It was supposed at first that the Austrians would invite the first battle at Novara, where Radetsky gained his great victory over Charles Albert in 1849; but, as the French force in front of Turin is gaining strength by delay, it is more probable that the movement of the Austrians toward Vercelli is an indication that they intend to hasten a battle on ground nearer Turin.

The movement of troops at Paris continues, but not to the same extent as during last week. Piedmont asked for 200,000 men, and it is quite probable that that number has already arrived in the Piedmontese territory, while those who are on their way now will remain in camps of observation as reserve corps on the frontier. These camps will be principally at Toulon and Culoz, the first on the Mediterranean, within eighteen hours steaming of Genoa, and the second on the confines of Savoy, within three days' travel of Turin, by Mount Cenis and the Susa railway. Several thousand men were employed last week in clearing the Mount Cenis of snow, in order that the baggage and artillery wagons might pass. It was over this route that Marshal Canrobert and Gen. Niel entered Piedmont.

The last of the artillery of the Imperial Guard did not get away from the station at Paris till two days ago. It will pass by Toulon and Genoa, and cannot arrive before Wednesday of this week at Turin.

It is not known at what time the Emperor Napoleon will start for the seat of war, for, from this time on, as much secrecy will be observed in all the movements of the chiefs and of the armies as possible; the electric telegraph will modify materially the mode of warfare, since but a day is required to carry news all round Europe from one camp into another, and the best laid plan may be frustrated by a too careless publicity. A Grand Council was held at the Tuileries on Saturday for the purpose of organizing the Government during the Emperor's absence. At this Council were present the Ministers, the Presidents of the Legislative bodies, the Empress, the Prince Jerome, and the Prince Napoleon. The Empress takes an active interest in the war, and even went so far as to make a sort of official speech to the Cent Gardes on the subject of their responsibility as the guardians of the Emperor's person during his absence.

The Cavalry of the French army in Italy will form eight divisions, divided into sixteen brigades or thirty-two regiments. They will be commanded by Generals D'Allonville, Morris, Partoneaux, and Grant. The Infantry will form twelve divisions at first, or twenty-four brigades, or forty-eight regiments, and there will be twelve battalions of Chasseurs—light cavalry. The number of divisions will be carried ultimately to eighteen.

The first corps, commanded by the Marshal Count Baraguay D'Hilliers, with General Fortz as Chief of the Staff, will embrace three divisions, headed by Generals Forey, Beuret, Blanchard (a cousin of Marshal Pelissier), l'Admirault, de Mertimprey, Ladreytt de la Charriere, and Bayaine. All of these officers distinguished themselves at Sebastopol and in Africa.

The second corps, commanded by General MacMahon, with General Lebrun as Chief of the Staff, will be composed of two divisions, headed by Generals de la Motte Rouge, Lefevre, Bonnet Maureylhan, Polhes, and Espinasse (late Minister of the Interior)

The third corps, commanded by Marshal Canrobert, with General de Senneville as Chief of Staff, will be composed of three divisions, headed by Generals Bourbaki, Trochu, Ducrot, Bonat, Bataille, Collineau, Renault, Picard, Jannin, and for the cavalry, Montauban.

General Bourbaki is described by the Courrier de Paris as the type of Gallic dash and daring. He led the Zouaves to the assault at Zaatcha, when he was too severely wounded to use a sword, in light kid gloves, with a cane in one hand and his cigar in his mouth. General Jannin is the Hercules of his division. In the Crimea, having broken his sword in repulsing a night attack of the Russians, he tore a huge tent-post from its place, and, laying about him with this Cyclopean weapon, strew the ground with enemies.

The 4th corps of the army of Italy, commanded by General Niel, Aid-de-Camp of the Emperor, with General Espivent de la Ville-Boisnet as Chief of Staff, will be composed of two divisions, headed by Generals Vinoy, Niol, de Leyritz, de Failly, O'Farrell, and Saurin.

The Prince Napoleon, according to the Piedmontese journals, will command a division of their army under the direct orders of the King. It appears to be true, as stated in my last letter, that it was the mortification shown by Gen. Saint Jean d'Angely, and the counsels of friends, which induced the Emperor to change his mind in regard to putting the Prince at the head of the Imperial Guard.

The Italian expedition which was called the Army of the Alps until it entered Italian territory, is called technically the Army of Italy.

The Minister of War has again changed the ordonance in regard to calling out married soldiers on a furlough. Only those married before they drew in the conscription will be called into service; all others, having married by special permission of the minister, will be allowed to stay with their families.

The price for substitutes remains, as fixed by the Government two years ago, at 2,000 francs.

All or nearly all the corps d'elite having been ordered to the seat of war, the Paris barracks are only partly filled, and these by rather inferior troops of the line, who seem to have come a long way, and who look somewhat lost at Paris. They are a small, sunburnt, but sinewy, hardy set of fellows, who give one the impression that, if they are not very bright, they can at least stand a good many hard knocks. Each arm of the Imperial Guard, however, has left a small number of men behind at Paris to serve as depots to fill up the ranks of those who may fall on the field and to train the recruits.

[From the St. Joseph West, May 16.]

MORE UNFAVORABLE NEWS FROM PIKE'S PEAK. We yesterday morning had a conversation with Mr. Stannus, of Keokuk, Iowa, who was just in from the plains. Mr. Stannus was one of a large party of Pike's Peak emigrants, some eighteen or twenty of whom, he says, prospected in the mines for about eighteen days. He was not at the mines himself, having stopped 100 miles this side to await the result of the examinations made by his friends. The whole party returned, having satisfied themselves that they could make nothing in the mines. The best diggings they had found would average only a fourth of a cent to the pan. The party tried the four diggings known as Cherry Creek, Arappahoe, Mexican, and Table Mountain diggings, all of which are about alike. It was thought at first that gold would be found higher up in the mountains, but all who tried were disappointed; the higher up they went the less appearance of gold they found. The whole party unite in condemning the thing as a humbug gotten up by traders and speculators.

In going out, the party met about one hundred emigrants a day returning on foot, nearly all of whom were in destitute circumstances. They all gave the same account in regard to the mines, though the traders along the road still contended that miners were making from eight to ten dollars a day. One of this company, as Mr. Stannus states, bought up all the gold he could find in Auraria and Denver cities, amounting to $5 43. Ten miles beyond Salt Creek the party uncovered the body of a man who had evidently been murdered, being shot with two balls through the head. It was supposed to be the body of a man from Nebraska City by the name of Carpenter, who was some time ago reported to have been murdered on the Plains with letters on his person giving unfavorable accounts from the mines.

Near by was found the body of his mule, which had also been shot. Mr. Stannus met immense numbers going out—in one day he thinks as many as 500 wagons, with three persons to each.

The above are in substance the statements of Mr. Stannus, who seems to be an intelligent and reliable man, and such is the character given of him by the gentleman who introduced him to us. We lay the statements before our readers, and let them draw their own conclusions.

We understand that the cars on the Nashville and Henderson Railroad are now running to Springfield, 28¾ miles from Nashville. Some time this week a daily line of four-horse coaches will commence running from Russellville to Springfield, connecting at the latter point with the trains to and from Nashville. When this connection is made passengers can leave Russellville after breakfast and reach Nashville between 1 and 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

OHIO WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS.
Announcement of the Proprietor for the Season of 1859.
THE OHIO WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS are situated in Delaware county, 18 miles north from Columbus (the capital of Ohio), on the Scioto river, 10 miles from Delaware, 5 miles from the White Sulphur Station, on the Springfield, Mt. Vernon, and Pittsburg Railroad, and 10 miles from Pleasant Valley or Springs Station, on the Columbus, Piqua, and Indiana Railroad. These Springs will open for the reception of visitors
ON THE FIRST DAY OF JUNE.
The improvements of 1859 have been large, enabling the proprietor to accommodate from five to six hundred guests. Among these improvements may be mentioned a large and elegant hotel, new cottage rows, additional buildings for amusements and recreation, extensive bath houses, a steam laundry, &c., &c.
Upon the estate there are five Springs, all within the lawn, four of which the White Sulphur, the Chalybeate, the Magnesian, and the Saline Chalybeate—are decidedly medicinal, whilst the fifth is remarkable for the purity of its water.
THE WHITE SULPHER
is a beautiful Artesian fountain, situated near the rocky bank of the Scioto river. At the depth of 160 feet below the level of the Scioto, flows the remarkable stream of sulphur water which supplies this Spring. This stream was discovered some 30 years ago by a gentleman who was boring for salt. The water, when reached, at once arose to the surface and has ever since continued to flow during all seasons, without change or abatement, either in quality or volume.
MEDICINAL PROPERTIES.
For years these Springs have been highly esteemed for their medicinal properties. During the past season their reputation in this respect has been singularly confirmed. They were administered by a physician, judiciously as to quantity, time of drinking, continuance, &c., and, under this systematic plan, the cures were numerous and gratifying.
THE WHITE SULPHUR WATER is peculiarly serviceable in those disorders of the Liver and Stomach which so often afflict gentlemen who have been too closely confined to business, and persons of sedentary habits are permanent tonics. Their effects upon broken down and debilitated constitutions have been not transient but lasting, giving to the blood a new vitality, and to the person new life and vigor.
THE CHALYBEATE SPRINGS
THE MAGNESIAN WATER is a gentle aperient.
Invalids may rely upon every facility being furnished them which can contribute to health and comfort.
As a delightful resort during the summer months, the Ohio White Sulphur Springs have no superior in the West, and but few in the United States. The location is peculiarly healthy; the Scioto here is a rapid, rocky stream; the "Cliff Limestone," a formation hundreds of feet in thickness, through which the river cuts its way, is everywhere either at or near the surface; the grounds of the estate are beautifully undulated, and interspersed with numerous ravines which carry off all the superfluous water, thus rendering the soil dry and the atmosphere free from that humidity so prejudicial to health; these circumstances, taken in connection with the altitude of the place, about 1,000 feet above the level of the ocean, make the locality as free from malarious influences as a mountain region.
The Spring property consists of 220 acres of land, one hundred of which are covered by one of the most beautiful groves in Ohio. This woodland is handsomely laid off into walks and drives, one of the latter being two miles in extent.
BATHS.
Bathing here by the plan adopted is brought into fair competition with that at naturally Warm and Hot Springs. The water is heated in the bath tub by steam pipes; the heat not being raised high enough to precipitate its salts it is by this system applied to the surface of the bather without the loss of its saline ingredients.
TELEGRAPH OFFICE.
A Telegraph Office, communicating with all parts of the country, has been established at the Sarings. To be thus in connection with distant points, will be a great convenience to gentlemen, who can hear from and direct their business affairs daily.
All the accessories necessary to health, pleasure, and amusement visitors may expect to find at the Ohio White Sulphur Springs, as the proprietor is determined to make it, in every particular, a first-class watering place. Gratified with the liberal patronage extended last year, no effort will be spared to merit its continuance.
A livery, well stocked with horses and carriages, is attached to the Springs.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC R. R. COMP'Y.
ALL Stockholders must now make the advance of 50 cents per share upon their stock, and send their certificates to D. C. Wilder, Secretary, at Marshall, Texas, for a reissue. The loan made and paid into my hands has protected those who have paid it. Those who have not paid up the installments or made the loan are now called upon to do so or they will certainly be cut off from all interest in the enterprise!
I have no alternative left, as the President of the Company, but to enforce this policy. Those who have paid up have done so with this express and unconditional understanding, that all should be made to pay—thereby enabling the President and Directors to free the Company of litigation and every impediment to the successful prosecution of the enterprise—by a compromise. A new policy has been inaugurated. Salaries and expenses have been reduced from $80,000 per annum to $13,000. The whole stock liability has been reduced one-half in amount without injury to any stockholder who shall pay up—reduced to the actual value of the property of the company, without estimating the rights and franchises at anything.
We must pay promptly our debts, and we must provide the means to construct the road, in order to reap the profits of the enterprise and secure the grants made by Texas to our company.
The company propose to raise the money by the sale of stock at par to purchase the labor to construct the road. Stockholders have the exclusive privilege of purchasing the stock for 90 days, from April 6, 1859. All persons are cautioned against buying or trafficing in the stock of the company, which shall not have been reissued from the Marshall office, and bearing date since the 6th of April, 1859. The press, generally, friendly to this great Southern enterprise, will please copy this notice, that each and every stockholder shall be truly warned—as they reside in every State, and are in almost every locality in the Union.
Messrs. W. & H. Burkhardt, agents in Louisville, Ky., will receive loan or surrender stock. We desire no misunderstanding, and hope to hear no complaints hereafter. This is the last call upon our stockholders; it is the pecuniary interest of those who have paid that others shall not do so; yet they do desire that all may do so even yet, and share to the fullest extent in the benefits of the late compromise and future advantage to be derived from this enterprise.
We expect daily to hear of the dismissal of State suit; all who intend to pay or surrender two-thirds of their stock without payment must proceed at once to do so, or they will be cut of.

LOUISVILLE
PRIVATE MEDICAL DISPENSARY.
Established for the relief of the misguided and imprudent votary of false pleasure, who, finding that he has imbibed the seeds of a certain loathsome disease, is, from an ill-timed sense of shame, deterred from applying to a physician whose knowledge and experience can alone befriend him in distress.
YOUTH & MANHOOD.
DR. GATES CAN BE consulted at his office—the one formerly occupied by Doctor King—where he would call the attention of all those afflicted with diseases of a private or confidential nature to the new method of treatment as practiced in the English and French hospitals. Having for several years made this class of diseases a SPECIALTY, with the knowledge he has of them, warrants him in saying that there is no form or symptom which they assume that is without a quick and permanent cure.
YOUNG MEN, who, by indulging in solitary habits, have contracted that mind-harrowing and body-destroying disease, seminal weakness, which leads to the most alarming and fatal consequences, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of affecting a quick and radical cure.
MIDDLE-AGED and OLD MEN, who, by excessive indulgence in their passions, have produced a debility in advance of their years, can consult Dr. Gates with the fullest assurance of being again restored to that state of health which they would have enjoyed had they never committed any excess.
Persons contemplating marriage and having any doubt as to their physical ability to enter into that solemn contract, should apply at once to Dr. Gates, who will remove all obstacles to prevent a long and happy life.
There are persons who indulge in the fond yet irrational belief that nature is capable of resuming without assistance her lost powers. To such I can only say that the time which is wasted in this delay is precious and irretrievable, and can only tend to perpetuate the habits of hopeless imbecility and render impotency permanent.
TO THE LADIES.—Dr. C. is agent for M. La Croux's French Preventive Powders, by which those who, from any cause, deem it necessary to avoid conception, can do so without incurring danger to health or constitution; price $2. Also, agent for Madame Capranal's Female Monthly Pills, a safe and effectual remedy for Irregularities, Obstructions, &c.; price $1. CAUTION! These Pills should not be taken during Pregnancy, as they are sure to produce miscarriage. The Pills and Powders sent by mail to any part of the country.
Persons at a distance may be cured at home by addressing a letter, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicine forwarded free from damage or curiosity, to any part of the country, with full directions for use.
Letters asking advice must contain $1, or no notice will be taken of them, for his time is too much occupied to answer letters of mere curiosity. Also, orders for Pills or Powders must contain a postage stamp.
Consultation may be held from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m. (on Sunday from 9 to 12 a. m.), at his office, northeast corner of Third and Market streets. Private entrance on Third street, Louisville, Ky.
☞ Secrecy inviolable! Don't forget the name and number. All letters should be addressed to

Fever and Ague,
from which mankind suffer over a large part of the globe, is the consequence of a diseased action in the system, induced by the poisonous miasm of vegetable decay. This exhalation is evolved by the action of solar heat on wet soil, and rises with the watery vapor from it. While the sun is below the horizon this vapor lingers near the earth's surface, and the virus is taken with it through the lungs into the blood. There it acts as an irritating poison on the internal viscera and excreting organs of the body. The liver becomes torpid and fails to secrete not only this virus, but also the bile from the blood. Both the virus and the bile accumulate in the circulation, and produce violent constitutional disorder. The spleen, the kidneys, and the stomach sympathise with the liver, and become disordered also. Finally, the instinct of our organism, as if in an attempt to expel the noxious infusion, concentrates the whole blood of the body in the internal excretories to force them to cast it out. The blood leaves the surface, and rushes to the central organs with congestive violence. This is the CHILL. But in this effort it fails. Then the FEVER follows, in which the blood leaves the central organs and rushes to the surface, as if in another effort to expel the irritating poison through that other great excretory—the skin. In this also it fails, and the system abandons the attempt exhausted, and waits for the recovery of strength to repeat the hopeless effort another day. These are the fits or paroxysms of FEVER AND AGUE. Such constitutional disorder will of course undermine the health, if it is not removed.
We have labored to find, and have found, an antidote
which neutralizes this malarious poison in the blood, and stimulates the liver to expel it from the body. As it should, so it does cure this afflicting disorder with perfect certainty. And it does more, or rather does what is of more service to those subject to this infection. If taken in season it expels it from the system as it is absorbed, and thus keeps those who use it free from its attacks; keeps the system in health although exposed to the disease. Consequently it not only cures, but protects from, the great variety of affections, which are induced by this malignant influence, such as Remittent Fever, Chill Fever, Dumb, or Masked Ague, Periodical Headache, or Bilious Headache, Bilious Fevers, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Blindness, Toothache, Earache, Catarrh, Asthma, Palpitation, Painful Affections of the Spleen, Hysterics, Colic, Paralysis, and Painful Affections of the Stomach and Bowels, all of which, when arising from this cause, will be found to assume more or less the intermittent type. This "AGUE CURE" removes the cause of these derangements, and cures the disease.
This it accomplishes by stimulating the excretories to expel the virus from the system; and these organs by degrees become habited to do this their office of their own accord. Hence arises what we term acclimatation. Time may accomplish the same end, but often life is not long enough, or is sacrificed in the attempt, while this "AGUE CURE" does it at once, and with safety. We have great reason to believe this is a surer as well as safer remedy for the whole class of diseases which are caused by the miasmatic infection, than any other which has been discovered; and it has still another important advantage to the public, which is, that it is cheap as well as good.

REAL ESTATE SALE.
I WILL sell without reserve my place, situated on the Louisville and Portland Bowldered Avenue and Railroad, on the 31st day of May, at 3 o'clock P. M., in building lots of 50 to 100 feet front and 300 feet in depth, or if preferred by the purchaser, running through from street to street, being about 600 feet. The improvements consist of a very comfortable frame dwelling house and a commodious brick house susceptible of being converted into a fine residence, with two wells of excellent drinking water and one large cistern. The grounds are highly elevated and the whole neighborhood very healthful and thickly settled. These two roads are the greatest thoroughfares leaving Louisville. The vast and rapid improvements on these roads and immediate vicinity make this property very valuable, and it must increase at no distant period to full double its present value.
Seldom is there such an opportunity of getting such deep and elegant building lots, or as a speculative investment it offers advantages rarely equaled.
Terms easy and unusually liberal—one-eighth cash, one-eighth in six months, and the balance in equal payments of one, two, and three years, with 6 per cent interest, and a lien on the property to secure ultimate payments.

Diamond Island
For Sale.
THIS ISLAND is situated in Henderson county, Ky., 13 miles below the city of Henderson and 25 miles below Evansville, Ind., and owing to the circuitous course of the river, is only about 12 miles from each place by land. It contains upwards of 1,200 acres and is surrounded by water at all seasons of the year. Not owning sufficient force to work this property up to its capacity, and without the means of buying, I have determined to sell it, and in doing so, an opportunity for pleasant and profitable farming and planting is offered that the WORLD IS CHALLENGED TO EQUAL.
At least 1,000 acres of this Island is of the strongest alluvial, hardly equaled and not surpassed, by the best. It will produce from 70 to 100 bushels of corn and from 1,200 to 1,800 pounds of tobacco to the acre, year after year, without change or rest, besides the heaviest crops of everything else produced in this climate, requiring strong soil. I have a small young orchard of peach and apple trees, a part of which will be bearing next year, and it is believed that, on account of the surrounding water this crop will never fail. I have cleared and under strong fence about 200 acres, and have deadened, now nearly dry enough to burn, about 300 acres more. On the farm there are about 800 panels of plank fence, stable room for 100 head of horses, mules, or cattle, with plain, comfortable buildings for overseer and negroes, smoke house, cistern, &c.
This property is well adapted to the raising of mules, cattle, and hogs, as the natural grasses are very fine, lasting from 8 to 9 months of the year; besides, during winter affording grazing equal to the best rye pasture. I have had on it for the past 2 years from 50 to 90 mules and horses, from 90 to 150 cattle, and have raised annually from 100 to 150 hogs, all of which have gotten their subsistence mainly in the woods. Stock are, by the surrounding waters, prevented from leaving the Island, and the stock of others in the surrounding country are for the same reason prevented from going to it. With 800 acres in cultivation all the stock necessary (and a surplus if desired) for the working and maintainance of the property may be raised upon it, making it necessary to buy only farm tools and negro clothing to work and carry on the farm. I have high land sufficient to protect a large amount of stock, in any flood ever known on the Ohio river. If in the course of years to come, the proprietor of this property should get it all or nearly all in cultivation, he would only then require stable and lots sufficient for his work stock, dispensing with fences entirely.
From the cultivation of corn and tobacco alone from five to eight hundred dollars to the hand annually may be made, by selling in the usual way in the home markets; but with the advantages for raising stock, to use the slop, and with the large leafy tobacco grown upon this land, so very suitable for strips, if the proprietor would distil his corn and stem his tobacco, the profits would be greatly increased.
Upon this island negro property is comparatively safe, as there can be no going or coming without permission, and negroes are freed from the bad example of other negroes or the bad advice of white men.
By some one of the numerous packets passing this property, persons may at trifling expence go to or from it at almost any hour they may desire.
For the truth of the main facts stated above, I would refer to the Hon. Archibald Dixon or Col. D. R. Burbank, who are both well acquainted with this property and are experienced in Ohio river bottom farming.
For terms and particulars, apply to myself at this place, either by mail or otherwise, or A. A. Gordon, President of Southern Bank of Kentucky at Louisville.

OHIO RIVER FARM FOR SALE.
INTENDING to remove to the State of Texas in the fall, I now offer for sale my Farm, 12 miles from the city of Louisville, in Jefferson county, just one half mile from the Ohio river. The improvements are new, consisting of a hewed log house, stables, well, &c., and about 20 acres in cleared land. The tract, comprising 130 acres, has 110 acres in the finest quality of timber. The timber suitable for cord-wood will doubly pay the price I ask for the land.
I will add that this land lies but one half mile from the Salt River Turnpike. It is unsurpassed by any land in the State for fertility and will be sold in payments of one-fourth cash—balance in one, two, and three years with interest.
I refer to Col. S. A. Atchison, attorney at law, Louisville, Ky., for further particulars, he being my agent to make sale of the above land.

A VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE.
I offer for sale my Farm, located on the road leading from Glasgow to Louisville, on Beaver Creek, three miles north of Glasgow and six miles southeast of Prewett's Knob Depot, on the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, consisting of four hundred and ten acres of land, one-half of which is in a high state of cultivation; one hundred acres set in clover and other grasses. The Farm is well improved with a good frame dwelling, barns, stables, and negro houses, fine meadows, orchard, &c., with an abundance of fine springs of never failing water.
For further particulars apply to Jas. P. Garnett at Glasgow, or to me at the United States Hotel, Louisville, Ky.

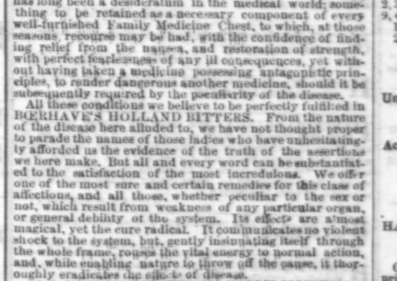
BOERHAVE'S
HOLLAND BITTERS



THE CELEBRATED HOLLAND REMEDY FOR
DYSPEPSIA,
DISEASE OF THE KIDNEYS,
LIVER COMPLAINT,
WEAKNESS OF ANY KIND
FEVER AND AGUE,
DYSPEPSIA.
THIS worst foe of humanity is so well known that we hardly feel disposed to occupy time or space in its exposition. Few have escaped suffering from one or another of its varied forms. In fact, it is either a cause or a consequence of almost every other disease; and, taken in this stage, we believe one remedy—BŒRHAVE'S HOLLAND BITTERS—will always mitigate, if not effect a permanent cure. We might use stronger language, but, as we are addressing a reasoning as well as a reasonable community, desire to avoid the prejudice which would attach to what would seem mere boasting Indigestion, Heartburn, Headache—Sick and Nervous—in fact, all that have their origin in impaired digestion—in which are included BILIOUS DISORDERS and LIVER COMPLAINTS, Mental Disorders, Irritability, Indisposition to Think, Impatience, Depression of Spirits, Nervous Fears and Trembling, Desire for Solitude, and a number of other affections of this class, rendering a man unfit for intercourse with the world and the society of his family—will all, in most instances, be found to have proceeded from that diseased state of the digestive organs which this medicine is so eminently calculated to relieve.
Females Suffering with Nausea and Debility.
A Tonic Stimulant, suitable to those peculiar periods in the life of every Female, more particularly every mother, has long been a desideratum in the medical world; something to be retained as a necessary component of every well-furnished Family Medicine Chest, to which, at those seasons, recourse may be had, with the confidence of finding relief from the nausea, and restoration of strength, with perfect fearlessness of any ill consequences, yet without having taken a medicine possessing antagonistic principles, to render dangerous another medicine, should it be subsequently required by the peculiarity of the disease.
All these conditions we believe to be perfectly fulfilled in BŒRHAVE'S HOLLAND BITTERS. From the nature of the disease here alluded to, we have not thought proper to parade the names of those ladies who have unhesitatingly afforded us the evidence of the truth of the assertions we here make. But all and every word can be substantiated to the satisfaction of the most incredulous. We offer one of the most sure and certain remedies for this class of affections, and all those, whether peculiar to the sex or not, which result from weakness of any particular organ, or general debility of the system. Its effects are almost magical, yet the cure radical. It communicates no violent shock to the system, but, gently insinuating itself through the whole frame, rouses the vital energy to normal action, and, while enabling nature to throw off the cause, it thoroughly eradicates the effects of disease.
ARE YOU NAUSEATED IN EARLY MORNING—INDISPOSED TO RISE?—We earnestly request you to try the half of a teaspoonful. It surely will not harm. Yet we positively guarantee new access of energy, and a cheerful, hopeful looking forward to the duties of the day.
ARE YOU SUBJECT TO NAUSEA BEFORE OR AFTER EATING?—Try the same quantity before each meal. As we said before, it will not harm; yet we assure you of relief from that distressing loathing at the thought of food, and also from the disposition to vomit after partaking. We promise perfect digestion of what has been eaten.
If you find that the dose prescribed has been too great, diminish the quantity to suit your constitution.
READ CAREFULLY.—The genuine highly concentrated Bœrhave's Holland Bitters is put up in half pint bottles only, and retailed at ONE DOLLAR per bottle. The great demand for this truly celebrated Medicine has induced many imitations which the public should guard against purchasing.
BEWARE OF IMPOSITION!—See that our name is on the label of every bottle you buy.

☞We have further intelligence from Europe to the 11th by the steamer City of Baltimore, which was boarded off Cape Race. The news is incomprehensible. Though four days later there has been no action, and Austria seems in a perfect state of lethargy, losing all the advantages which superiority of numbers and choice of position first gave her. In the meantime breadstuffs and provisions have declined in the Liverpool markets and consols and cotton take quite a rise. These indications seem to point to some presumed mode of pacification, but what that mode is we are left to infer. It is probable however that Austria, becoming alarmed at the revolutionary movements in some of the Italian States, and fearing that this feeling might extends itself, has become alarmed. The Paris correspondent of the New York Commercial, writing under date of the 2d, nearly a week preceding our present advices, says:

> The French army in five days from the time Austria sent her ultimatum to Sardinia, numbering nearly 200,000 men, was thrown into Italy at a distance of 600 miles from Paris—a feat for which Austria was not prepared, and which only a few years ago would have been impossible.
> Another attempt, it is said, is making by England, Russia, and Prussia, to arrest the progress of hostilities. The contending parties are now asked, not to disarm, but to stop where they are until the Congress can meet.
> It will be easy for the two armies to stop where they are, but the Italians themselves, determined upon war, will manage to precipitate the event. The revolution in Tuscany and in Parma will be the ground when all others fail to bring about the collision. Austria exercises a protectorate over these Duchies; she has troops garrisoned there, and she is not going to allow these States to go over to Victor Emanuel without a struggle. The fact is, all Italy is in a blaze; the presence of 200,000 Frenchmen to back up their pretensions to liberty, is enough to excite any people that had not the last spark of patriotism crushed out of them, and if the Italians do not now strike a blow for their freedom, they are unworthy the sympathy of which they have long been the subjects.

☞What is Louisville going to do in the way of celebrating the Fourth of July? We certainly ought to have a more vigorous demonstration than has occurred of late years. We do not like to see this apathy growing over the nation in relation to its holidays. When the Declaration of Independence was signed, the old patriot John Adams wrote, in a spirit of prophesy, that the day would be celebrated by bonfires, illuminations, ringing of bells, and every variety of public rejoicing; but as the shadow of that great event lengthens in the dim past, even on the anniversary of its eighty-third occurrence, it becomes necessary to remind the American people of their duty and stimulate them to even its decent observance. Let us do something to make the young feel an interest in the day and lead them to study the history of that glorious convocation of patriots who proclaimed Liberty to the people. Let us have a military parade of our volunteer companies, an oration by some prominent citizen, the reading of the Declaration, and a fine display of fireworks at night, while "from the rising of the sun even unto the going down of the same" let the bells from every spire ring out their merry peal. Who will take the initiative in some such movement? We suggest that our worthy Mayor call a public meeting next week, and let us see of what stuff our citizens are made. We want to have Independence Day celebrated, and, if we cannot have a public demonstration, we know two or three who will assemble together in the name of their country, and we feel that the benignant power which has always blessed that country will be in the midst of us.

☞Nearly all the prominent cities of our country have within a year or two past erected elegant structures for dramatic and lyric entertainments, and some weeks since an article appeared in the Journal discussing the propriety and expediency of erecting a new and commodious theatre in Louisville, which should come up to the requirements of public comfort, and the vast improvements that have recently been devised in the auditoriums of all buildings for the accommodation of popular assemblages. New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Baltimore, Cincinnati, New Orleans, and scores of minor cities have theatres which are as luxurious in their furniture as any private drawing room, in which a play or opera can be enjoyed without an evening's cramping up in irksome seats and constrained positions. Louisville is the only city of its size which has not taken steps towards such improvements, and it is now time that public attention should be directed to the urgent necessity for repairing the delay, and the many reasons for carrying out the project of a new theatre. We therefore give place to another communication from the same source as the former one, and express the hope that our active business men and capitalists will take such action as will provide a commodious building, induce rivalry and competition between the two houses, and thus elevate the dramatic standard, which its best friends must confess has sadly deteriorated in our midst. The suggestions of our correspondent are forcible, and we learn that nearly $20,000 have been conditionally pledged to the scheme.

☞We have the Memphis Evening Argus of Tuesday, a new paper, which contains the particulars of the fire and tornado at that city and also an accident on the Memphis and Charleston Railroad.

The fire originated in the Stevenson Block, and communicated to the large warehouse of J. L. Case & Co.; the house of J. M. Coats, used as a stove, grate, and tinware depot; the furniture warehouse of Zent & Trabue; the seed and provision store of Frank Smith & Co.; the agricultural implement establishment of David McComb; the wholesale grocery of H. Dow; and the liquor house of H. H. Mettee. Messrs. Case & Co. had a large amount of hay in the store, and Frank Smith & Co. had also three hundred barrels of flour in the rear of the warehouse, all of which were entirely consumed. J. L. Case & Co.'s loss on stock $9,000, insurance $5,000; Zent & Trabue's loss about $12,000, no insurance. The loss of H. H. Mette is about $8,000, insured for $4,000.

The tornado unroofed the store of Gayer & Neely and the cotton shed of Webb & Rawling, but did otherwise but little damage.

By the railroad accident, A. T. Rogers, the conductor, was killed.

New Bethel on Water Street.—We have hitherto failed to notice the establishment by the Young Men's Christian Association of a house of worship, intended principally for river men, on Water street, two doors above Bullitt. The room is on the first floor, nicely fitted up with seats, &c. Preaching and other religious services are held every Sabbath evening at 4½ o'clock, and a Sabbath school under the care of a superintendent and a number of faithful teachers at 8½ o'clock. Rev. G. W. Smiley preaches there to-morrow evening.

Religious Notice.—We are requested to announce that Rev. G. W. Smiley will preach in the First Congregational Methodist Church (Sehon Chapel) and that the Rev. Jas. Mitchell will preach in the Second Congregational Methodist Church (Welburn Chapel, Hancock street), to-morrow (Sabbath) at 11 o'clock A. M. and at 8 o'clock P. M. The public are invited. Seats free.

☞We are requested to call the special attention of the ladies of Louisville and vicinity to the special sale on Monday morning next at 10 o'clock at the store room of Messrs. N. C. & D. Morse, under the National Hotel, of some 9 of Gilbert's warranted A No. 1 7 octave rosewood pianos. The pianos can be examined at any time before the sale and are well worthy the attention of buyers. As this is the closing sale, buyers would do well to attend.

Young Men's Christian Association.—The regular meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association will be held this evening at 8 o'clock. A full attendance of the members is desired, as the proposed amendments to the constitution will be acted upon.

☞Services are not expected in the Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church on Sabbath, owing to the absence of the Rev. G. Gordon.

☞Advices from Port au Prince state that, of the 35 Cuban filibusters who landed at that place from the brig African but 18 remained, the balance having left the country. The remaining 18 will probably return to New York in the African.

RIVER AND STEAMBOAT MATTERS.

The river, during the twenty-four hours ending last evening, had been at a stand with 4 feet 11 inches water in the canal by the mark. There is no improvement at the head of the canal. The accumulation of mud there continues, as the dredge-boats have been employed altogether at the locks. The Fred Tron last evening, in addition to her wheel, had a line on shore and was using her steam capstan to effect an entrance into the canal.

The Ward last night could not get over Portland bar and landed at New Albany.

The St. Louis Republican of yesterday says:

> This stream is getting much too big for its banks, and matters on the levee begin to look as though we were threatened with another flood. Many cellars on Front street are already filled with water, and the merchants have taken the precaution to remove their goods above the first floors. The railroad tracks on the other side are in danger of being submerged, and the whole American Bottom inundated. The tributary streams above are full, and are hourly sending vast volumes of water into the Mississippi. The river here was still rising last evening.

The Cumberland river was rising on Wednesday evening with 6 feet water on the shoals.

The Tempest Not Sunk.—We are glad to be able to contradict the telegraphic dispatch from New Albany that the steamer Tempest had been sunk, which was published in last evening's Bulletin. The Tempest was aground on the bar, and in sparring over it she careened, her guard was damaged, and about twenty barrels of whisky rolled from her forecastle into the river, which were subsequently recovered. Capt. Hamilton, the agent of the underwriters, was at Portland when the accident happened, and immediately boarded the Tempest and gave all the assistance in his power to Capt. Parr. The T. left New Albany last evening, all right.

Steamer Martha Putnam Raised.—We learn from Capt. Hamilton that Capt. Jewell succeeded last night in raising the Martha Putnam. Her hull is still full of freight. Capt. J. is a deserving gentleman, and he has been untiring in his exertions to raise his boat.

The R. J. Ward.—This magnificent steamer arrived last night. We are indebted to her attentive clerks, Messrs. Smith and Grey, for the usual favors. The Ward was crowded with passengers, but had only a small freight. She brought Mr. Keene Richards's Arabian horses.

The Ward is advertised to leave for New Orleans this evening. Her great reputation and that of her commander, Capt. Silas F. Miller, always secures for her a full compliment of passengers.

The Jacob Strader, on her trip up on Wednesday, got aground on Rising Sun bar. She was still there on Thursday when the Superior came down, which boat has taken her place in the mail line.

The Diana.—Capt. Sturgeon has telegraphed from Memphis that the Diana will arrive to-morrow at noon and will leave for New Orleans on Monday evening.

The Bracelet—This fine Green river packet will leave this evening. She is an excellent boat and well officered. Mr. Edwards is the clerk.

The R. M. Patton, Capt. Bernard, is the packet for Tennessee river to day.

The Die Vernon.—This splendid packet will leave for St. Louis to day. It is only necessary to state that she is in command of Capt. J. M. Martin, a universal favorite.

The Dove is the Kentucky river packet this evening. The Emma Dean will leave for Carrollton. The Telegraph No. 3 is the Cincinnati mailboat.

The Memphis and New Orleans Packet Company at a called meeting of their stockholders at Memphis on Tuesday decided on building four new mail steamers to form a tri-weekly line. This in addition to their other boats will make during the cotton season hereafter a daily line. This summer they will run a tri weekly line.

☞The Opposition in the Sixth Congressional District have nominated the Hon. Green Adams as their candidate, and the selection is one that will inspire the voters of the old Gibraltar district to retrieve their former error in allowing the citadel to be surprised by Locofocoism. He has heretofore served in Congress with great credit, and more recently occupied a judicial position in a manner to add dignity to the position.

☞Mr. Brooks will have a fine supply of strawberries to-day, and enough, he thinks, to accommodate his customers all the day. They are beginning to ripen very rapidly, and new varieties are blushing to the warm kisses of the sun. The location of Mr. Brooks is in Sixth street, under the Exchange Hotel, where he intends to keep the finest fruit depot ever opened in our city during the entire summer. He will have some of his plants in the horticultural exhibition this morning, to which we invite the attention of all who desire to lay out strawberry beds.

☞The Horticultural Society will give an exhibition at the south hall of the Masonic Temple this morning. This is a delightful season of the year for floral displays as well as the produce of the kitchen garden and early fruits and vegetables. Now, that the Society has recommenced their meetings, we hope they will be regularly held, and that everybody who owns a patch of ground will contribute to make them interesting.

☞No letters should be mailed to the following U. S. Naval vessels, as they are all homeward bound: Steam frigates Powhattan, Minnesota, and Mississippi, of the China squadron; corvettes Cumberland and Dale, of the African squadron; and all the Paraguay fleet except Perry, Bainbridge, Dolphin, and Preble.

☞The Cincinnati Commercial says the largest run ever made on a billiard table, or at least of which there is any record, was made on Thursday by Mr. Phil. Tieman, of that city. He was playing a private game with a gentleman, five hundred points up, Mr. Tieman playing caroms and discounting his adversary's game. His antagonist lacked five points of being out and Mr. Tieman 226. He went to work and scored the above on one run, making 113 caroms, all of which were counts of the red and white balls. Had he been playing on the two reds, he would have scored 339.

☞A letter from Richmond, Madison county, gives a cheering account of political prospects, and says Green Adams, the Opposition nominee in the Sixth Congressional District, is certain to be elected.

Ben Rice, the Independent Democratic candidate, and T. T. Garrard, the regular Democratic nominee, had a difficulty at Booneville on Monday last, in which Rice was badly wounded, having been twice shot, and a man by the name of Smith was killed. Our correspondent does not give any particulars, but thinks the difficulty will be certain to defeat both the Democratic aspirants.

Since the above we have received the Richmond Messenger, which has the following account of the affray:

> It seems that Garrard in a speech reflected severely upon Rice, and his course in becoming a candidate, and Rice in his reply retorted bitterly, giving Mr. Garrard as good as he sent. Garrard replied, stating that Rice's remarks "were as false as h—l." Rice called him a d—n liar, whereupon Garrard drew a pistol and fired at Rice without touching him. A Mr. Gibson, son-in-law of Mr. Garrard, immediately drew a pistol and fired three or four times, two balls taking effect upon Rice, badly wounding him, and a third upon a man by the name of Smith, who is thought to be mortally wounded, the ball having passed through his neck. Rice's wounds are very severe but are not considered very dangerous. The affair is unfortunate, and where it will end we cannot say.

The body of Mr. Lester was was found in the river some five weeks ago. [COMMUNICATED.]

A NEW THEATRE.

Some weeks ago an article was written for the Journal, which discussed the propriety and expediency of erecting a new theatre. The late controversy in the papers, between the manager and the company, has not weakened the arguments then used, and has at least opened the eyes of our citizens to a fact hitherto unknown, that the profits made by this establishment enure to the benefit of non-residents, and will invariably be carried off to Cincinnati for investment. Without entering into the merits of the case between the manager and company or inquiring whether the season was a profitable one, or investigating the rights of the manager to reduce his salaries one third, it may be relevant to give the solid reasons for carrying this project through.

By the first of November in all probability the Nashville trains will go through direct, making connections with all the Southern trains, and diverting an immense amount of travel from the other routes. Our city consequently will be thronged with strangers, and some inducement should be offered that might retain them in the city for a few days. The National Race Course is a fixed fact. The Artesian well is with justice regarded as one of the curiosities of the land. Its beneficial properties will soon be widely known, when the extensive bathing rooms are completed, and with a slight effort Louisville may be made the Western Saratoga, and thousands of guests may fill our hotels, and pour riches into our tradesmen's pockets. How can this be effected? Certainly the first step toward it must be to provide a place of amusement, which will afford the relaxation necessary for the enjoyment by strangers of our city.

Go to New York at any time, and the countless throng of strangers nightly wends its way to the various places of amusement, which, if closed, would tend more to depopulate the city than anything else short of an epidemic. It is the same in every city of importance, and the strangers constitute, in great part, the patrons of the manager. Many Southerners love the quiet and unostentatious comfort of our city, and, instead of resorting to crowded and fashionable watering places, would prefer to enjoy themselves for the summer in Louisville. The Mammoth Cave will shortly be within striking distance of every point, and multitudes will visit it. Without friends and acquaintances amongst us, they still can pleasantly pass away the evening here, instead of going directly on, if a nice, genteel establishment and first rate company invite their attendance. With the single exception of Tom Placide's company, which in six weeks cleared over $5,000, there never has been a respectable company in point of numbers or talent in this city. In addition to the persons who might thus be induced to remain over for a day or two, or make their residence here for the summer, the two meetings of the National Race Course in the spring and fall, and the annual fair, will attract a large attendance, and it is our bounden duty, when asking these persons to come, that proper amusements should be provided to induce their attendance another year. The stock of such a building as is proposed will most certainly pay good dividends, and it can in fact be so built, as, by the rent of portions of it, almost to pay a good interest upon the investment.

The shares can be placed at $500 each, which will entitle the stockholder to a free admission in addition to his dividends, and complete control of the concern can be confided to a board of directors. The present unsightly and uncomfortable establishment is rented at the rate of $4000 per annum, and it is not an exaggeration to say that competent and responsible managers would eagerly seek for the new one at $5000. The total cost would not exceed $35,000.

Any person who chooses to take two or more shares would have the privilege of introducing any resident for the season, or could nightly introduce any friend from abroad upon the extra share. Already several persons have expressed a willingness to subscribe $1,000 each, and doubtless $20,000 could be raised in one week. It is said that Mr. Placide is very anxious that such a theater should be established in order that he might give our citizens the benefit of his splendid company during the summer, and thereby keep them together. We should thus have both a summer and a winter season—a constant change, which would keep up our interest, and would most certainly add greatly to the city's prosperity. It is to be hoped that some of our enterprising citizens will take this in hand, and put it through without longer delay. B.

Gold vs. Silver.—The great increase in the annual production of gold, and the immense absorption of silver by India, are beginning to alter the relation between the stocks of the two metals in such a degree as to excite general attention. We have before noticed a translation by Richard Cobden of a work by Chevalier on the Precious Metals, recently published. In this work, which has attracted comment here and abroad, only the probable effect of the change in the relation of the two metals is given. There are no statistics by which individual opinions may be formed, or the author's theory verified; and, as the subject is of vast importance, affecting, as it does, the two standards by which all property is valued, and one of proof rather than theory, we have compiled, with labor, from the different authorities, including Jacob on the Precious Metals, Humboldt's Statement of the Production of Silver in Mexico, Tooke's History of Prices, and the official statements of the production of gold since 1849, the exact stocks and relative changes of the two metals at different periods. Those who wish to verify the statements can do so from the above-named authorities, though at the cost of no little labor.

While the two metals are the money of the world, they must bear a certain relation of value; and since this relation of value is dependent upon the relation in the stocks of the two metals, it follows that with fluctuations in the stocks of the two metals, there must be corresponding fluctuations in the relative value or one of the metals must be wholly or partially abandoned as money. We propose to show what have been the effects from past changes in the stocks of the two metals, and comment on the probable effects in the future.

The stocks of gold and silver in Europe in 1492, at which time the changes following from the production of the silver mines of America may be dated, were as follows:

	Stock.	Ratio.
Gold	$60,000,000	30 per cent.
Silver	140,000,000	70 per cent.

From 1492 to 1803 there were many changes in the yearly production of gold and silver. Until the year 1525 but little gold or silver arrived from America. In 1855 the great silver mine of Potosi was first worked, and in 1567 the quicksilver mine of Huancavelica in Peru was discovered, by which the yield of metal from the same ore was increased from 1 to 3⅓. This improvement from the former slow process of smelting may be said to mark a new silver era. In 1803 the stocks of gold and silver were:

	Stock.	Ratio.
Gold	$1,770,000,000	35 per cent.
Silver	3,190,000,000	65 "

It should be noted that the absolute production of silver increased in this period, from 1492 to 1803, more largely than that of gold, although the relative production was decreased.

In 1848, the year of the new gold era, the stocks of the two metals were as follows:

	Stock.	Ratio.
Gold	$2,800,000,000	41 per cent.
Silver	4,000,000,000	59 "

It will be noticed that in the period from 1803 to 1848 the increase in the stocks of gold was greater than the increase in that of silver. This does not prove the greater comparative increase in the production of gold, but may be ascribed two to causes—first, the practice of hoarding in India, and secondly, to the fact that the annual loss of silver from wear, manufactures, &c., is four times as great as the corresponding loss of gold.

We find that, after making the necessary allowances for export to India, wear, use in the arts, &c., and after collating the returns from California and Australia, the stocks of gold in 1858 were:

	Stock.	Ratio.
Gold	$3,679,000,000	47 per cent.
Silver	4,186,000,000	53 "

If now we take the different periods, and extend the rate of change in the stocks of the two metals, according to the present rate of production, we will have an idea of the revolution which is going on. We can safely take the present rates of production as not being too large for the probable future production of gold in comparison with that of silver, for with the frequent discoveries of gold on both slopes of the Rocky Mountains and in Australia, the probabilities are that the production of gold will increase more rapidly than that of silver.

The per centages of the stocks of gold and silver at the different periods up to 1858, and at the present rates of production for the periods up to 1900 are as follows:

Years.	Silver.	Gold.
In 1492	70 per cent.	30 per cent.
1803	65 "	35 "
1848	41 "	59 "
1858	47 "	53 "
1861	50 "	50 "
1892	30 "	70 "
1900	24 "	76 "

We see from this exhibit that in 1861 the stocks of the two metals will be equal, and that in 1892 they will be in a reverse order from 1492. Let us look at the effect of these changes in the past and consider the probable further effect. The first and greatest effect, as we mentioned before, must be either by abandoning one metal as a standard or by altering the relation of value. Both of these have in a measure actually taken place. Silver has, except in a few cases, been practically given up in the Western World, and gold never has had currency in the Eastern. The Orient and the Occident have each chosen their standard. Again the value of silver is steadily appreciating, while that of gold, compared either with silver or by prices, is steadily depreciating.

It is estimated that the annual production of silver territory is from sixty to sixty-five millions of dollars. The loss by wear and use in the arts cannot be less than twenty-five millions of dollars annually. We have, therefore, forty millions dollars as the outside limit of the accession to the stock of silver money. It has, however, been ascertained that through one channel there was sent from England last year sixty millions of dollars in silver, to India alone. It is known, too, that large exports of silver are made from this country and the Pacific coast to China, and from thence to India. These are no temporary currents; they have been so great and so constant and with no ebb, that they have earned for India the name of the "cesspool of silver." The total amount of silver lost to commerce by this drain is certainly not less than eighty millions of dollars annually. This is forty millions more than the net production. The absorption of the total stock, if this is continued, is therefore only a question of time. On the other hand, the annual production of gold is now fully two hundred millions of dollars, and the wear is only one-fourth that of silver, and the use in the arts certainly not greater. The final substitution of gold for silver is therefore an inevitable result.

Henceforth gold must be the money of commerce. The old relation of gold and silver or of sixteen to one can only be retained by the disuse of silver as money, and this seems to be the plan adopted. At this time Holland is the only commercial country which refuses to abandon the money of the East; all of the others have practically, from necessity, adopted gold as the one standard, and should, to insure justice to all, make the change legal. The relation of money and prices should be as nearly immutable as possible, and we should not forget that to insure this the stock of metallic money should increase correspondingly with the increase in commerce, population, etc., of the world. The practicability of this is in a great degree lessened by having two standards, and it may be questioned if it does not make it impossible. Of the two metals, gold alone can keep pace in its production with the growth of the world, and again to do justice to the two great classes, debtors and creditors, only one standard should be allowed—reducing thereby the fluctuations to a minimum both in extent and frequency. Gold, from these reasons, must hereafter become the standard of the commercial world.

Sixth Congressional Convention.—The Opposition convention of the Sixth Congressional District met at Manchester on the 13th inst. All the counties in the district were represented. Colonel Reuben May, of Clay, presided, assisted by M. J. Cook, of Rockcastle, as vice president, and Thomas F. Stone, of Madison, and J. D. Cooly, of Floyd, were the secretaries.

H. C. Lilly, Esq., reported the following resolutions, which were adopted:

Resolved, That we approve of the sentiments embodied in the address adopted by the Opposition convention held in the city of Louisville on the 22d of February, 1859.

Resolved. That we heartily approve of the nominees of said convention and will give them our cordial and undivided support.

Resolved, That the resolutions adopted by the Louisville convention, recommending the soldiers of the war of 1812 to the favorable consideration of the general government, were dictated by a sense of justice to brave and gallant men, and the just and long-neglected tribute to their toils and struggles should no longer be postponed.

Hon. Green Adams was then unanimously nominated as the Opposition candidate for Congress.

Judge Adams in response to a call made a short but forcible speech accepting the nomination, expressing his perfect confidence in the successful termination of the canvass, upon which he pledged himself soon to enter and prosecute with vigor and energy, and urged the party throughout the district to unite with him in the effort to redeem the district.

Messrs. Embry, Breck, Sawyers, Hazlewood, Cooly, Lilly, &c., being called on, expressed themselves ably and eloquently upon the political issues of the day.

The Rescuers—Writs of Habeas Corpus Granted.—Application has been made to Judge Scott, of the Supreme Court, for writs of habeas corpus in behalf of Bushnell and Langston, who were last week sentenced at Cleveland, to fine and imprisonment for participation in the rescue of a fugitive slave at Wellington. The writs asked were granted, and the prisoners are to be brought before the Supreme Court of Ohio on Wednesday, the 25th inst. A hearing will then be had, the cases presented being now precisely similar to that upon which the Wisconsin Court acted in liberating Booth, and in regard to which the United States Supreme Court has recently fulminated a counter decree. This question is likely to prove an exciting, if not a very troublesome one, before it is finally disposed of, and will, of course, attract very general attention.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Macdonald's Improved Galvanized Iron Refrigerator, on practical and scientific principles—the best and most convenient article in use for cooling and preserving meats, milk, butter, fruit, wines, etc. They are so arranged that the ice-water runs slowly through each shelf, and, being confined from the effects of the hot air, keeps them at the coldest point, causing the refrigerating influence to be the same throughout the whole apparatus. This is effected by the drippings from the ice, which is lost in all other refrigerators. They are open on the front and top—make a neat piece of furniture—can be placed in any room, and have a water jar, by which perfectly cold water can at all times be had without additional ice. These refrigerators are no experiment. They have been in successful operation for upward of ten years, to the gratification of those who have them in use, as their certificates will show, and are now the most approved before the public. The improvements recently added, by which the most perfect ventilation is insured, a great saving of ice has been obtained, more frigid air produced, and durability effected, certainly place them far in advance of anything ever offered for public patronage. Galvanized iron has been substituted for the shelving in lieu of zinc, thereby enabling us to offer them an article entirely free from oxydization and corrosion, and consequently void of that disagreeable odor which has heretofore been most objectionable in other refrigerators. In addition to their being so vastly superior to others, owing to their convenient arrangements and unequalled principle, they are more serviceable, as it is now conceded that galvanized iron is more durable than any other metal, as it is not affected by acid, salt water, etc. For sale by

LOUISVILLE AGENCY OF THE
NEW YORK Life Insurance Company.

At a Meeting of the Local Directors of the

New York Life Insurance Co.

HELD at the office of Wm. S. Vernon, in the city of Louisville, Ky., Feb. 1st, 1859, the following was unanimously adopted:

The undersigned, President and Directors of the Company, have examined the report and exhibit of the New York Life Insurance Company for the half year ending Jan. 1st, 1859, and being satisfied with its prosperous condition, cordially recommend it to the encouragement and support of the community.

The New York Life Insurance Company has been in existence fourteen years; its capital has attained the sum of $1,600,000. invested in State stocks, bonds, and mortgages on real estate.

We think it a most safe and profitable mode of investing money. The profits enure to the benefit of the insured, and have averaged not less than 30 per cent per annum on the premium paid.

Besides these investments in stocks, &c., the law of New York requires as additional security that $100,000 shall be deposited with the State Comptroller, to meet any lawful demands which the Company may fail to pay.

We invite attention to the nature, objects, and advantages of life insurance as set forth by this Institution.

It will be seen by the above statement that this Company is in a flourishing condition. Those desirous of information in regard to the subject of life insurance would do well to call on the local agent of the above Company, who will give them any information that may be desired, or for reference apply to either member of the Local Board, all of whom are insured in this office.

☞THE ALARMING increase of the diseases of the stomach within the past few years has awakened no ordinary attention in the medical world, but with little effect in staying its ravages; the most skillful acknowledge their inability to remove the disorders, and were it not that others pay attention to the suffering, but little hope or relief would they find. Among these benefactors is DR. HOSTETTER, the proprietor of Hostetter's Bitters, for all diseases of the stomach. The preparation has no equal for giving tone to the stomach and vigor to the system. It acts directly on the stomach and carries off the morbid matter there deposited, both speedily and with ease to the patient. In fact it has been well said, that no preparation extant is as pleasant in its flavor, and effective in its aid and cure as this great remedy for Diarrhea and similar diseases of the stomach.

THESE pills are nothing new, but have been used by the Doctor in his practice for many years both in France and America, with unparalleled success in every case; and he is urged by many thousand ladies residing in this city as well as other cities, who have used them, to make the pills public for the alleviation of those suffering from any irregularities whatever, as well as a preventive to those ladies whose health will not permit an increase of family. The composition of these pills is made known to every agent selling them, and they will tell you the pills are perfectly harmless to health, yet at the same time will do all they promise. There is not a lady living but what at "some period of her life" needs them, especially for that common yet debilitating complaint known as Leucorrhœa or Whites. Price $1 per box.

St. Johns, May 20.

The steamship City of Baltimore has been intercepted off Cape Race by the news yacht of the associated press, and European advices to the 11th inst. obtained. This is four days later than was received by the Canada.

Second Dispatch.

St. Johns, May 20.

The advices by the City of Baltimore, to the 11th inst., furnish no political news of special importance.

The cotton market closed on the 10th with a declining tendency, though there had previously been a slight improvement on the quotations by the Canada. All qualities of breadstuffs had considerably declined. Provisions closed quiet.

London, May 10th.—Consols have improved, closing at 91⅜@91⅞.

Third Dispatch.

St. Johns, May 20.

The latest intelligence from London, received by the steamer City of Baltimore, state that no battle had yet occurred.

The London Press views the movements of the Austrian troops as inexplicable, except on the supposition that they are waiting for more favorable weather before commencing the actual plans of the campaign.

The Emperor Napoleon and the Prince had quitted Paris on their route to Genoa.

The steamer Europe arrived out on the 9th inst.

Liverpool, May 10.—Sales of cotton for the past three days 27,000 bales, at an advance of 3-16@¼d; prices show a declining tendency at the close. Flour was very dull and prices were tending downward. Corn was very dull and materially lower.

PRESBYTERIAN GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Second Day's Proceedings.

[Special Dispatch to the Louisville Journal.]

Indianapolis, May 20, P. M.

The General Assembly has chosen Rochester, New York, for the place of the next meeting.

After appointing committees, the convention adjourned until to-morrow.

FURTHER BY THE CITY OF BALTIMORE.

St. Johns, May 20.

The Austrians are exhibiting much indecision in their movements, occupying and abandoning positions apparently without motive. There has been no material change in the state of affairs in Italy since the sailing of the Canada. Heavy rains continued to fall up to the latest accounts.

A Vienna Bulletin states that the Austrian troops are awaiting better weather before resuming operations.

The Emperor and Prince Napoleon left for Genoa on the 10th.

The Princess Eugenie was proclaimed Regent during the absence of the Emperor.

The Sardinian General, Marmora, has made the Dora the strategetical line. The Austrians are fortifying positions on the river Sesia. The French Marshal, Canrobert, directs the operations of the allies from Allessandria. Much sickness prevails among the Austrians.

The Sardinians are preparing a magnificent reception for the Emperor Napoleon on his arrival at Genoa.

It is reported that Austria will soon have 750,000 men under arms. Austria had declared Ancona, the papal port on the Adriatic, in a state of siege. The Pope has protested and Austria has promised to reconsider.

Liverpool Cotton Market, May 10.—The sales of the past 3 days amount to 27,000 bales, including 3000 to speculators and 2000 to exporters. Prices have improved 3 16@¼d. The market closed quiet but steady with a declining tendency. Clare & Son's circular quotes Orleans middling 6⅞@7d; uplands middling 6⅝d.

Manchester advices are more favorable, although no business of importance had been transacted.

Liverpool Breadstuffs Market.—The circulars quote a considerable decline on all qualities of breadstuffs. Richardson, Spence, & Co. report flour very dull at 11s@14s 6d. Wheat is also very dull and declined 6d@9d. The sales are unimportant and the following quotations nominal: Western red 7s 6d@10s 6d, western white 10s@11s, southern white 10s 6d@13s. Corn is dull and 6d lower; mixed is quoted at 6s 3d @6s 6d, yellow at 6s 6d@7s, white 7s 9d@8s 4d.

Liverpool Provision Market.—The provision market closed quiet. Beef dull; sales unimportant. Bacon steady. Lard firm at 60 @62s.

Liverpool Produce Market.—Rosin dull; common quality slightly declined; sales at 4s. Coffee dull. Rice dull. Spirits turpentine firm at 44s.

London Market.—Wheat has a declining tendency; all qualities are 6d lower. Sugar is dull and 6d lower.

London Money Market.—There continues to be an active demand for money under the increased rate of discount, and a further advance is anticipated. Consols have improved, being quoted at 91⅝ for money and 91¼@92 for account.

The Latest—London, Wednesday, noon.—Consols are quoted at 91⅝@91⅞.

Liverpool, Wednesday, P. M.—The cotton market is quiet. The prices favor buyers. The sales today are estimated at 6,000 bales.

Wheat has an advancing tendency. French wheat has slightly advanced. The other markets are generally without change.

Wilmington, Del., May 20.

General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, New School—Second Day.—This morning, the Rev. E. S. Lacey, delegate from California, was present.

The report of the Committee on Foreign Missions was read by the Rev. John McLeod, of Philadelphia. It showed that this body is second in the proportionate number of its foreign missionaries and the amount of its contributions, but one of the large denominations of the country exceeding it, viz: the Congregationalists. The Old School Presbyterians stand next on the list. The document, which is lengthy, was heard with deep interest.

The Rev. John W. Dulles, of Philadelphia, read the report of the Publication Committee, which shows an unprecedented progress in sales and contributions, as well as in new issues.

Rev. T. A. Miller, D. D., of New York, read the report on education, showing great progress.

No final action was taken on these reports.

The Assembly partook of an entertainment given by John R. Latimer, Esq., of this city.

Leavenworth, May 20.

The first overland express from Denver City arrived this morning, 10 days out, with $700 in shot and scale gold There were four passengers.

Advices from Denver City of the 9th report a large force employed in building ditches along Cherry creek. One tow, with a limited supply of water, yielded an ounce the first day.

Accounts from the mountains are conflicting.—There is still too much ice and snow to operate to advantage. The general aspect of the news is favorable. Gold dust will continue to arrive by succeeding stages. The miners value the dust at $20 per ounce. The route, 625 miles in length, is pronounced by the passengers to possess superior facilities, as evidenced by the quickness of the first trip.

Washington, May 19.

Since the receipt of the dispatches of yesterday, the President expresses his confident belief that all Nicaraguan difficulties will be satisfactorily adjusted before the next meeting of Congress, the Mosquito Protectorate abandoned, and the Bay Islands question receded from. Since the commencement of the war, the British tone is particularly conciliatory, though Lord Malmesbury was well inclined and fair before.

Col. Holt has sent the President an elaborate review of Westcott's case, concluding with the opinion that the public interests demand his removal. A successor will be immediately appointed.

There is no truth in the report that the Cass-Herran treaty was lost in the Magdelina river.

Indianapolis, May 20.

General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church—Second Day.—The names number more than the Commissioners reported. The whole number now present amount to about 350.

The Board of Foreign Missions made their 22d annual report.

Rochester, N. Y., was selected as the next place of meeting.

A memorial of the churches of Philadelphia on the subject of church extension was received and referred.

Washington, May 20.

It is designed to discontinue the great overland California mail, but the point submitted by the Postmaster General for the Attorney General's opinion involves the question as to the power to reduce the number of trips.

Captains Stringham, Mercer, and Purviance, and Commanders Bell and Dayton have been appointed as a board to witness the annual examination of midshipmen at the Naval Academy on the 1st of January.

The Boston and Rhode Island Knight Templars returned this afternoon and will visit the President at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning.

New York, May 20.

The United States steamships Atlantic and Memphis arrived this afternoon from Montevideo, having been in company with the U. S. steamer Chapin to the capes of the Delaware. The latter is bound to Philadelphia. The steamers left Montevideo March 25th, stopping at Pernambuco and Barbadoes for coal.

Pittsburg, May 20.

Jacoby and Evans, convicted of the murder of their wives, were hung at two o'clock P. M. The executions were strictly private. There was no military present and very few were admitted. The crowd outside was not large. Jacoby declined making a speech. Evans spoke half an hour, declaring his innocence. Both died hard.

[Special Dispatch to the Cincinnati Gazette.]

THE HERALD ON WAR NEWS.

Baltimore, May 19.

The New York Herald says: The Canada, with one day later news, brings an account of the first collision between the Austrians and Sardinians. It is stated to have taken place at Trassinatto, at which point, it is added, the Austrians were repulsed in an attempt to cross the Po. There seems to be a mistake, both in the place at which this encounter occurred, and the position assigned to it.—We find no such place on the map, but at eight miles from the Po there is a town called Trassinetto on one map and Franchetto on another. If we are correct in supposing the latter is the point indicated in the dispatch, the Austrians must have crossed in considerable force, and been driven back with a severe loss. It is in fact so stated, and therefore it is probable that our surmise as to locality is correct.

If so, we can form some idea of the disastrous character of an eight mile route, with a river like the Po in the rear.

The beginning of the campaign is, it must be owned, an unpropitious one for the troops, equipped and prepared as the Austrians were. The crossing of the Po at the point opposite Trassinetto, almost simultaneously with the passage of the Austrians at Cambio, sixteen miles lower down, confirms the idea that the latter movement was the initiatory step of a combined plan of operations covering several points. We did not attach much credit to the statement that the whole of the advanced Austrian divisions were to be concentrated against Alessandria, although the importance of that stronghold, commanding the line of communication between Genoa and Turin, is sufficiently apparent.

So much time having already been lost by the Austrian Generals, there remains but little hope of their effecting anything by surprise. The French have taken such advantage of their supineness, that results can only be obtained now by an advance of large masses of troops, in separate columns, with their lines of communication so well secured that there shall be no danger of their interruption. This is a tedious plan of operation, and will be rendered more difficult by dangers which will threaten the Austrians in the rear from the insurrectionary movements in the Peninsula, and the chances of the revolutionary contagion spreading to Lombardy.

These are the first results of the errors committed by the Austrians, in not acting promptly when they had once made up their minds for war. If, instead of giving the French time to hasten to the relief of their allies, they had followed up their ultimatum by immediately crossing the Sardinian frontier and advancing to Turin, they would have gained a prestige here, the decision of which would have been useful to them throughout the campaign, to say nothing of the advantage which the capture of the Piedmontese capital would have proved to them. They might, besides, have annihilated the whole Sardinian army, had their measures been skilfully taken; for what could the 70,000 of which it is composed, acting as they must have done in separate bodies, have effected against the immense masses that would have been brought against them.

There is but one way of accounting for the hesitation which seized the Austrians at a moment at which their preparations seemed to have been made for an immediate advance. The revolt of the two Duchies and the prospect of its spreading to the rest of Italy appear to have had the effect of paralyzing their movements. If this is correct, how blind must have been the Emperor and his advisers to the real condition of the Peninsula and the Italian provinces under Austrian rule. They should have been prepared for these results or not have pushed matters to their present extremity. It is difficult to understand the generalship which undertakes a campaign of so serious a character without taking into account chances so full of danger.

If it should turn out that the delay in commencing hostilities was occasioned solely by apprehension for the safety of Lombardy, then the world will say that Francis Joseph and his counsellors were a pack of crack-brained fools for entering on the war at all.

THE GREAT SHOOTING MATCH FOR $2,000.

Springfield, Ill., May 16.

Eds. Com: Will you please notify in your columns that the great match for the championship, at 50 double birds each, and $2,000, will take place between myself and Blanton Duncan, of Kentucky, at Louisville, Thursday, May 26th. You will remember I shot against D. on the race course, Cincinnati, in October, 1855. I lost by one bird (the only match I ever lost out of 54) Since then, and at the St. Louis Pigeon Shooting Tournament, April 19th, I beat him in a match for $1,000, and bets to $40,000. The coming match I wish my Cincinnati friends to be present and witness it, as many as can come, and those who "invested" on me at our first meeting, to "do it again." Yours respectfully,

WILLIAM T. KING.

The Slave Trade Case.—H. W. Allen, Esq., who was charged before the United States Court with holding African slaves, being apprised of the charge, came from West Baton Rouge, his residence, yesterday, presented himself to the United District Attorney and demanded an immediate trial. The process of law not being so speedy, Mr. Allen signed a bond for $5,000 to appear, with W. E. Starke and J. D. Denegre as sureties.—N. O. Picayune.

[Special Dispatches to the Cincinnati Gazette.]

Baltimore, May 19.

The special Washington dispatch to the New York Herald says:

Dispatches were received to-day at the State Department from Mr. McLane. He states that the English and French fleets had left Vera Cruz and gone to their stations. The Liberal government gains strength hourly, and the next arrival from Mexico will probably bring the intelligence that the Liberals have taken the city. It is understood that as soon as the Liberals got possession of the city the English and French Ministers would recognize the government of Juarez. The report that McLane had negotiated a treaty is untrue. Juarez had signified his willingness to do so, but our Minister had no authority to act. He has, it is understood, asked for instructions from our government for that purpose.

Senor Mata has also received intelligence from his government upon the same subject, and had a conference with the Secretary of State this afternoon with reference to it. The matter will probably be under advisement for some days. In all probability the treaty will be negotiated here, as Senor Mata has full power for that purpose. There is no truth in the report that the Cass-Herran treaty was lost in the Magdalena river. It originated from the fact that an informal communication from our own to the Granadian government, which was dispatched on a boat that was capsized, was lost, but the treaty did not leave till the next mail, and did not suffer from the alleged disaster. It has probably been ratified before this by that government.

The New York Times' Washington correspondent writes:

According to the latest advices from Mexico, the main body of the Liberal army was, on May 1, at Guanajuato, under Gen. Zuazua, who was preparing to advance on the city of Mexico. Much enthusiasm animated the troops. The English and French fleets with the exception of one vessel of each nation have left Sacrificios, which is three miles from Vera Cruz, and hence all fears of hostilities on their part are for the present quieted. It is supposed that Mr. Otway would be superseded by another British Minister, and the constitutional government recognized by England.

There prevailed a moderately active demand for beef cattle at all the city yards to-day, as also on Tuesday, when there were large sales of the best offerings, but in consequence of an increase in the receipts prices have declined fully half a cent a pound. The sales ranged at from 9 to 12c, with but few sales at the outside quotation. There were many more poor cattle than usual on sale, but they were freely taken at our lower prices. There were on sale about 2,800 head, but as the figures were not made up at 44th street when our reporter left we are unable to give the exact figures. The sales at Bergen Hill on Monday reached 178 head, at prices not varying materially from our quotations.

Cows and calves are in good supply and moderate request at our quotations.

Veal calves are in plentiful supply, the receipts for the week reaching about 1,400 head and prices are nearly half a cent lower on the average, though the range is about the same.

Sheep and lambs are also in fair supply and the demand having been moderate, prices have declined 25@50c per head.

Swine continued in good supply and prices do not vary materially from our previous quotations.

READ THIS!
NEW ORLEANS MEDICAL NOTICE.

DR. LE ROY'S MIXTURE FOR THE PROMPT AND CERTAIN CURE OF ALL URETHRAL DISEASES, AND THOSE AFFECTIONS SOLELY—TO THE PUBLIC.—Seventeen years' trial of this Mixture in an extensive practice in New Orleans has fully tested its powers and removed those prejudices which physicians and the public generally have against an advertised medicine by its invariable success in all Urethral Disease, such as Gonorrhoea, Chronic Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Spasmodic Strictures, Neuralgia of the Bladder and Urethra, Affection of the Kidneys, Incontinence of the Urine, Whites, &c.

It would be well in obstinate cases of Gonorrhoea and Gleet to use in connection with the Mixture our CAMPHORATED BELLADONNA INJECTION. Price 50 cents.

TAKE NOTICE.—As in all uncomplicated cases ONE BOTTLE of DR. LE ROY'S MIXTURE suffices to effect a permanent cure, in from three to eight days, assisted, if necessary, by a vial of the Belladonna Injection, the cost of getting promptly cured of a disagreeable and often dangerous malady is trifling.

This Mixture is not an empirical remedy, a "cure all," but is compounded by a physician and prescribed solely for Urethral Affections.

It is entirely vegetable, not nauseous, and can be used with perfect safety, confidence, and ease, as it does not affect the breath, requires but little change in diet, and no restriction from business, which has rendered it very popular both with the public and medical men.

Persons afflicted are strongly recommended to give it a trial, when its prompt effect will convince them of its efficacy.

PRICE PER BOTTLE $3.

CAUTION.—Recollect the genuine article is liquid. Every French label has the written signature of LeRoy, M. D., Paris, on it, and every English label has the fac simile signature of
